CONCUSSION MANAGEMENT

What is Concussion Management?

- Player safety is the top priority of USA Hockey and SCIR
- Any player removed for concussion evaluation or has been diagnosed with a concussion must follow the Concussion Management Program
- Concussion Management is a set of protocols to follow for a concussion or suspected concussion

Who does this Impact?

- Coaches, Team Managers, Volunteers & Board members are required to completed CDC training
- Baseline concussion screenings are an important tool. Get a baseline today!
- Parents know their athletes best. If your athlete seems “off” or is exhibiting any signs or symptoms, it’s best to be cautious and suspect a concussion

Where can I get Help?

- More information is available at <https://www.usahockey.com/safety-concussions>
- For training, information about brain injuries, or guidelines for returning to activity, access <https://www.cdc.gov/headsup/index.html>
- Contact your family physician if you have specific questions or concerns
